It hides; you can't see it, but it's always there, observing you, watching you, spying on everything you do and say. It's not a vampire, but it feeds off you, it depends on you, that's why it hides and uses you. And, meanwhile, it grows and grows without stopping, like a parasite. The parasite's strategy consists of hiding themselves in organisms of other species and feeding off them without killing them. There are lots of kinds of parasites, animals as well as plants, but there's one you won't ever have heard of, a sort of parasite that you could never in your most terrible nightmares imagine. It's intelligent, merciless and possesses an unbelievable amount of power.
