Season: SPRING 2010

This book which contains 14 stories and 14 theatrical scripts. It's an eco-environmental project that has as objective the spread and awareness of values related with environment, ecology and the protection of all the resources that surround us, in order to challenge everyone, to take care of the present and, thus, to achieve a better future. The author uses a double technique: stories and the theatre, or, individual and group reading through caring and amusing tales, and theatrical scripts, either through read or live theatre.
