Carlitos wants a little sister, but when she arrives, he realizes that is not that much fun, as she does cry, mum and dad look after and give her a lot of time. Sometimes, he thinks they love her more than they love him. Carlitos regrets ever wanting a little sister –wishing for a toy would have been better!, he says sulking.

The pictures in this story can help the parents of a newborn in getting the older siblings preparing a welcoming environment for the new arrival.
