Did you know that you can become anything you want, deliberately creating the life of your dreams? And do you know that you can experience it all by yourself through simple exercises, even using your computer?

All this is possible thanks to the knowledge of a universal law: the Law of Attraction, we discover how thoughts become deeds, which means that most of the time we become what we think.

This is shown through a practical approach, based on clear explanations, examples and simple exercises that will allow you to experience progress for yourself and implement the knowledge gained from the start.

In implementing the Law of Attraction you will learn many techniques to help you achieve the best results. You will even learn how to use your computer and common computer applications to deliver results with maximum efficiency.

Using the Law of Attraction is simple, no hidden secret. In fact, you use it constantly, whether you like it or not: while thinking you attract to your life outcomes that respond to your thoughts.

This book will teach you to use the Law of Attraction. You will know what it is and how it works, and learn all the details that allow you to maximize its potential. Also, you will learn how to use creative visualization, meditation and many practical techniques, easy to apply, including those in the computer world.

But above all, you will be aware that we all have a great power that enables us to create reality through our thoughts, and will learn to make good use of it, creating the life of your dreams on your way to happiness.
