Could we turn on lightbulbs with our hands? Charge mobile phones just by touching them? Someone discovered how to do this over a century ago, someone truly exceptional. But his daring visions changed our systems only up to the point he was allowed to do so. This novel, in the midst of the 21st century, is a fictional tale based on the figure of that genius, who really existed, but who history has tried to cover up. What is told in these pages might never have occurred... or it might be happening right now, without us realising. The protagonists of "3327 Yo soy la luz del mundo" make up a fabric in which they have unwittingly taken part in an event that might change our present and our future. Love, jealousy, betrayal, friendship, wonder and death... this novel portrays the essence of a human being when he risks it all.
