Mummy Wants To Fly is an illustrated children's book. The main character is a little boy who speaks in the first person: "My mummy does loads of things without me. My mummy lives in a balloon that she wants to fly up and away. Then I get worried because there are some balloons that disappear into the sky when they fly high. My mummy is the best mummy in the world but... she wants to fly". The little boy describes moments when his mother seems to be inside a balloon far away from him, when she goes to work, to the gym, etc. but the little boy has a trick: he pulls on the cord to bring the balloon closer. This is a simple story that shows us things from a child's point of view, the way he sees the lives of adults, to make us think about this affectionately.
