

La Sombra Blanca

The White Shadow

Author: Carlos Fidalgo [1]

Publisher: REINO DE CORDELIA SL [2]

Language: Spanish

Year of Publication: 2015

Pages: 192

Number of editions: 1

Spanish Retail price: 15.95€

ISBN: 978-84-15973-60-7

Genre: Literature

SPRING

2017

Season: Year 2017

This story begins at a lake flooded by the sea, continues across a country in the grip of the war and spreads across a maze of trenches on the banks of a river that acts as the frontier with a bad dream. It's the story of a mystery; of the Scottish soldier Elgin Gairloch, recruited to fight in France, and how he returned home following the last battle of the Somme in the spring of 1918. There are characters who lose their voices, blind soldiers who never regain their sight, a hospital with closed doors and a fleeting glimmer that crosses the window of a house in a city consumed by fire. A ghost story, 'La sombra blanca' ('The White Shadow') is a piece for several voices set in the trenches of the First World War. "Many of the soldiers who arrived with me are no longer here. But I dream of them."

Publishing rights available from Company: Reino de Cordelia SL

CIF: B85558385

Address: Calle Alberto Alcocer 46, 3ºB, 28016

Contact: Jesús Egido

Phone: 0034 696206665

E-mail: jesusegido@reinodecordelia.es [3]

Website: <http://www.reinodecordelia.es/libro.php?id=178> [4]

Countries where the rights have been sold:

None.

Additional information Prizes and reviews:

'A book of great poetic richness, despite the fact it is written in prose' (20 minutos). 'Fidalgo dives into the First World War' (Diario de León) etc.

Source URL: <http://217.160.225.169/node/27475>

Links:

[1] <http://217.160.225.169/node/27587>

[2] <http://217.160.225.169/node/27607>

[3] <mailto:jesusegido@reinodecordelia.es>

[4] <http://www.reinodecordelia.es/libro.php?id=178>