'This is the story of Victoria the cow: the cow died and that was the end of the story.' That's how the popular story goes, and it's only slightly longer than the story of the dinosaur from Monterroso. Nono Granero feels it's too short, so he kept thinking up his own ideas until he came up with this playful and spellbinding, and very long, version that explores the different lives of the unfortunate cow. Madcap humour, rhymes and nonsense bring us to an ending that is, with circular logic, another beginning.
