

Los sorrentinos

The Sorrentinos

Author: Virginia Higa [1]

Publisher: Plaza General Vara del Rey 5, 5°C, 28005 Madrid [2]

Language: Spanish

Year of Publication: 2018

Pages: 152

Number of editions: 1

Spanish Retail price: 14.90€

ISBN: 978-84-948993-1-7

Genre: Literature

SPRING

2019

Season: Year 2019

Just over a century ago, a family left Sorrento and moved to the Argentine city of Mar del Plata, to open a hotel and later a trattoria near the beach. This could be the story of any of the many families who immigrated at that time, except that this family played a particularly important part in Argentina's culture: its members invented 'los sorrentinos', a kind of pasta which is now eaten all over the country. As in the best comedies, everything is mixed up in Los Sorrentinos: laughter with tears, the fate of a family with that of a country and a well-lived life with the most fortunate of inheritances.

Publishing rights available from Company: Sigilo editorial

CIF: B88031026

Address: Plaza General Vara del Rey 5, 5°C, 28005

Contact: Adam Blumenthal

Phone: 665306523

E-mail: adam.blumenthal3@gmail.com [3]

Website: <http://www.sigilo.com.ar> [4]

Countries where the rights have been sold:

Italy (Einaudi), Sweden (Rastlös forlag), France (Place des Editeurs)

Additional information Prizes and reviews:

"The unforgettable characters speak as though the mouth were the place where the tongue displays its skill, grace and precision", Clarín

Source URL: <http://217.160.225.169/node/33358>

Links:

[1] <http://217.160.225.169/node/33461>

[2] <http://217.160.225.169/node/33462>

[3] <mailto:adam.blumenthal3@gmail.com>

[4] <http://www.sigilo.com.ar>