Tuntun represents everything that is a bit different, all those species in danger of extinction that are slowly disappearing. With his huge size, he represents everyone who feels alone in the world, those who are judged by their appearance and are crazy for an opportunity. Tuntun is gigantic, but he doesn't know it. The sound of his footsteps frightens all the other animals in the jungle, whose last thought is to be brave and confront the truth. And the fact is that things are very very often not they way we think they are. One daring wasp realises what is really going on and takes unexpected action, causing an accident that completely changes the jungle. Things will never be the same again. Tuntun meets all the animals as he discovers that he's not alone in the world and the animals begin to have marvellous adventures together with their new friend.
