

Los colores de las independencias iberoamericanas. Liberalismo, etnia y raza.

The colours of Iberoamerican independence. Liberalism, ethnicity and race.

Author: I. Frasquet Miguel [1]

Author: M. Chust Calero [2]

Publisher: Departamento de Publicaciones, Consejo Superior de Investigaciones Científicas [3]

Genre: Social Science and religion

SPRING

2011

Season: SPRING 2011

The present volume attempts to explain independence in Ibero-America through spatial, temporal, regional, ethnic and racial diversity. In this sense and in their concern, the studies presented here have three connecting premises: the different interpretations and visions of liberalism in the Cádiz 'doceañista' model that emerged in America in the creation of the different nation-states, the interpretation of this liberal revolutionary process by the (not necessarily aligned or hostile) indigenous communities, and, finally, the position taken by the mulatos and black people, not just with regards to the conflict but also to the new society and their social and political resistance, alternatives and stances.

Publishing rights available from Company: Consejo Sup. de Investigaciones Científicas, CSIC

Address: Depto. de Publicaciones, c/ Vitruvio 8

Contact: Juana Molina Nortes

Phone: 91 568 1628

E-mail: j.molina@orgc.csic.es [4]

Website: <http://www.csic.es> [5]

Source URL: <http://217.160.225.169/node/3775>

Links:

[1] <http://217.160.225.169/node/3263>

[2] <http://217.160.225.169/node/3262>

[3] <http://217.160.225.169/node/12929>

[4] <mailto:j.molina@orgc.csic.es>

[5] <http://www.csic.es>