Sandra, a young squatter who lives with her partner, a street guitarist, starts seeing strange apparitions as soon as she gets pregnant. The series of weird phenomena that occur around her, especially in the middle of the night, reach a fever pitch after the birth of Anita, to the point that Sandra starts believing there's an alien presence living inside her and that everyone around her is part of a diabolical plan. And what wouldn't a mother do to save her daughter? "The scariest kind of horror, the horror of the everyday, the type that hits you right in the guts."

Lecturopath. "For everyone who enjoy stories of possession in a suffocating, paranoid atmosphere." Libros y Literatura. "A delirious, frantic novel, with powerful descriptions that make you feel genuinely uncomfortable."
