It's bath time, a daily routine that with a little imagination can become a true adventure. The soap box is like a flying saucer, the sponge reminds us of the car-wash, and the shampoo foam is a lot like an iceberg. What better than bath-time for an exciting adventure? And Mum can join you, but is that Mum or is it a desert island? All the bath-time extras are inspiration to create the most unexpected adventures, parent and child, in a world of pretend where our imagination runs wild. The illustrations take us into the depths of the water, its colours, the blue-green that contrasts with the clear bottom that describes the unique journey, written with delicious brief and poetic text.
