Bites and Nibbles is the latest title from Mar Benegas in the Marsupiflap collection, illustrated by Susie Hammer. What has happened to this book? Who has been at its pages? Whose are these teeth marks? A book for young and older children to play at guessing which animals have been biting its pages. In the author's words, "The entire Marsupiflap collection has been designed with this theme in mind: flaps, play, pop-up, shapes and mirrors, with rhyming text to sing and accompany the exploration with the book, participation and playful surprise." The pages of Bites and Nibbles, as the name suggests, are all bitten and covered in teeth marks, so that babies (who bite the world to discover it) can guess which animal has been at each page. With rhymes and rhythm and a surprise at the end.
