In October 2010 Jorge Lorenzo became champion in motorcycling's 500cc category. He is the new and unrivalled king of MotoGP; having secured 383 points he also broke the record for most points won in a season. It has been 11 years since the last Spaniard, Álex Crivillé, achieved the same feat, which only adds to the magnitude of the Mallorcan rider's success.

In this book, which comes illustrated with photographs, the story of Lorenzo's magical season—in which he also overcame his teammate and eight times champion Valentino Rossi—is brought spectacularly to life, so that the reader will get as close as possible to experiencing what he experienced.
