

Yinn. Fuego Azul

Djinn. Blue fire

Author: Ana Alonso [1]

Author: Javier Pelegrín [2]

Publisher: Grupo Anaya [3]

Language: Spanish

Year of Publication: 2011

Pages: 368

Number of editions: 1

Spanish Retail price: 13.00€

ISBN: 978-84-667-9539-5

Genre: Literature

SPRING

2012

Season: SPRING 2012

It is the year 1120. Akil the Djinn returns to the world of men to serve a Leonese nobleman called Diego Tovar. Diego has lost his lands and is prepared to do anything to get them back. But the only way of achieving his goal is to steal a valuable manuscript from the messenger carrying it... who turns out to be a girl called Sahar.

'Blue Fire' is the first book in the 'Yinn' series, which combines historical fiction with fantasy. We are in the Iberian peninsula in the early 12th century: a convulsive period in Christian realms due to confrontations between noblemen, as well as in Al-Andalus where, faced with cultural splendour, the Almoravids are trying to impose a new order. 'Yinn' also introduces us to a fantastic universe in which the magical traditions of the three co-existing cultures of Iberia in the Middle Ages are blended.

Publishing rights available from Company: Grupo Anaya, S.A.

CIF: A-37002805

Contact: Pablo Cruz

Phone: +34 91 393 87 61

E-mail: pcruz@anaya.es [4]

Website: <http://www.anayainfantilyjuvenil.com> [5]

Additional information Prizes and reviews:

'Has the necessary ingredients to become a success' (Librería Al•lots, El petit príncep)

Source URL: <http://217.160.225.169/node/8297>

Links:

[1] <http://217.160.225.169/node/33691>

[2] <http://217.160.225.169/node/7885>

[3] <http://217.160.225.169/node/3256>

[4] <mailto:pcruz@anaya.es>

[5] <http://www.anayainfantilyjuvenil.com>