The Sun and the Moon make a lovely happy couple and so they have lots of friends. They like to organise parties and picnics in their house up on the hill. Hardly a day goes by without them inviting someone round! Everyone brings a friend or relation with them, because no one wants to miss out on the parties thrown by the Sun and the Moon. On the day they decide to invite Mr Dew to their house, the Sun and the Moon couldn't have imagined the number of unexpected guests who would turn up...
